

For Children

Wonders & Worries

Provides therapeutic programs for children and their families coping with chronic or life-threatening illness.

Camp Kesem

Camp Kesem OSU is a college student run summer camp for kids with a parent who has (or has had) cancer. Their one-week sleep away camps are a chance for kids 6-16 to have a fun-filled week and just be kids.

Someone I Love Is Sick

Someone I Love Is Sick is a customizable tool to use when talking with children ages 2-6 years old about a parent or grandparent who has cancer. Pages of the book can be selected to address the family's specific situation including diagnosis, treatment, hospitalization, recurrence and, if need be, end of life. The tool provides educational information, addresses emotional responses and can be used by families and healthcare professionals.
